

Regional Executive Director of Education

September 2, 2020

Good morning,

Today at 2 pm, Education and Early Childhood Development Minister Zach Churchill and Dr. Robert Strang, chief medical officer of health, will provide an update on Nova Scotia's Back to School plan.

If you are interested and able to view, the announcement will be livestreamed at:
<https://novascotia.ca/stayinformed/webcast> .

The news conference will also be recorded and post on the government YouTube channel at:
<https://www.youtube.com/user/nsgov>.

We are excited to be welcoming back our students next week. There has been so much work done to get ready for opening with more to be completed this week.

It really has been a team effort!

If you have any questions, I would encourage you to reach out to your child's principal or email us at:
connect@hrce.ca . There is also a Frequently Asked Questions section on the provincial Back to School webpage that contains some great information.

With thanks,

Elwin LeRoux,
Regional Executive Director of Education
