
Regional Executive Director of Education

July 22, 2020

Families,

Today (Wednesday, July 22) at noon, Education and Early Childhood Development Minister Zach Churchill and Dr. Robert Strang, Chief Medical Officer of Health, will announce Nova Scotia's plan for the safe return to school for all students, teachers and staff on September 8.

If you are interested, the announcement will be livestreamed at: <https://novascotia.ca/stayinformed/webcast> . You may also view it over Facebook Live on the Nova Scotia Government Facebook Page: <https://www.facebook.com/NovaScotiaEducation> .

Nova Scotia's return to school plan was developed with input from public health, advice from experts at the IWK Health Centre, feedback from union partners, teachers and most importantly, families and students.

More than 28,000 parents/guardians and students across the province made their voices heard in the school experience surveys.

I know that families in our region have questions about what September will look like. I encourage you to tune into the announcement if you are able.

More information, including the return to school plan and the survey results summary will be available online following the announcement at: www.novascotia.ca/backtoschool .

You can anticipate further updates from us throughout August as we implement the plan in preparation for opening. As always, if you have any questions, email us at: connect@hrce.ca and we will put you in touch with the appropriate member of staff.

With thanks,

Elwin LeRoux,
Regional Executive Director of Education